

Pre - Arranged Funerals

A pre-arranged funeral is one which is organised in advance, the requirements specified and a Statement of Intent drawn up with our company.

It is invaluable that your wishes are clearly stated and your relatives, executors or friends are not at a loss, as they know exactly what you would like to do.

A pre-arranged funeral is not pre-paid. Payment is made to us at the time of death, at the price we then charge for that standard of funeral.

The price is comparable to the price of today allowing for inflationary increases and is costed at the same place in the market range of funerals at the time.

Although there are obvious advantages in pre-paying a funeral, it is not convenient in many situations.

For example when:

- * A funeral bond is owned elsewhere;
- * An annual premium is paid to an insurance company for a lump sum at the time of death.
- * The payment for the funeral is to come from your estate or the sale of your home.
- * You simply don't want to put up money at this stage.
